

Home...what a wonderplace...

I'm home!

I am SO happy....yes I had a great time away but I am a home girl to the core. I love my dust. I love my clutter. I love my computer. I love my family. I love my dog....Don't misunderstand me...I had a great time away...but nothing beats home.

I was in Fort Lauderdale, Florida at a PITC (Program for Infant and Toddler Care) Training for the last week. Here is the view out my window of the hotel.

Gorgeous...huh!

I took a photo of my feet in the water to prove I was there.

The trip was all expense paid with the promise that I would write a paper and teach the classes to people back in my area...so my task for this week...the paper. UGH!

The food was great...the other participates were great...the view was great...the education was great but nothing beats Iowa, the smell of fresh cut alfalfa hay and home!
