

UFO Progress

I have some progress to share. I've moved on to my Rectangle Wrangle quilt. Last week I hurried and got one star block finished.

Here's how far I am this week...

All the little Ohio Star blocks that make up the outer border are sewn. Being the inside is already sewn, my hope is to get these little guys pressed, sewn and attached. I can't wait! I have loved this quilt and can't wait to see it get finished. YAHOO!

I am anticipating the next UFOs on my list and cut some papers for the string blocks for Fair and Square. I don't know if that's my next quilt but I do know that quilt is moving up the list.

You can find me right back here next week. I am hoping to have Rectangle Wrangle finished...what's your goal?
